

I have a copy of this survey and, in my mind, it is very invasive. It is asking students for information on family and friends that could eventually be used against them. These questions have to do with who they know that smokes, drinks or takes drugs. They are asked if they know someone who steals cars, has been arrested, belongs to gangs or owns a gun. There are several questions about their relationships with their family members and parents. This survey is a violation of the Federal Privacy Act. There is more, but you get the point. The actual survey can be found at Communities That Care Youth Survey|SAMHSA.

Please include this in your research on Common Core issues.
