

Kansans CAN

Personal Financial Literacy

Brad Neuenswander
Deputy Commissioner, KSDE

www.ksde.org

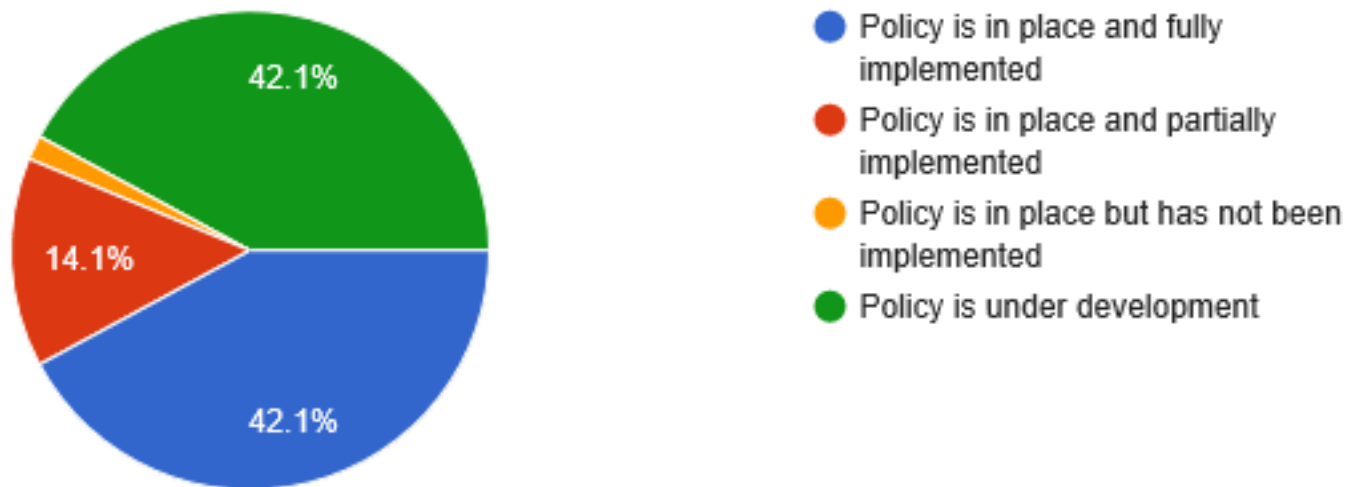

House Education Committee/State Board Letter

- We strongly encourage each local board of education, that has not yet done so, to pass and implement a policy on the instruction and the desired outcomes of personal financial literacy education in the manner best suited to your district.
- The possibilities could include creating a financial literacy class, embedding financial literacy education in various current classes, or holding a financial literacy night for students and their families – as only a few examples of educational opportunities a district might choose.

Financial Literacy Education Survey (100% Participation)

1. Does your district have a financial literacy policy in place?

Financial Literacy Education Survey

2. Which of the following does your school district policy include?

Financial Literacy Education Survey

3. Which statement(s) below concerning financial literacy (FL) education apply to your school district?

2016 Financial Literacy Education Summary

- 100% of schools now have a policy in place or under development
- Financial Literacy instruction is being implemented in a variety of ways and at multiple grades, with 91.8% occurring at the high school level
- 26% of our school districts require it for graduation
- The number of students completing a Consumer and Personal Finance Course is at its highest level since 2012