

ROBERT R. (BOB) SANDERS
STATE PRINTER

201 WEST TENTH
TOPEKA, KANSAS 66612

May 31, 1967

Mr. Ben Barrett
Research Department of Legislative Council
Statehouse
Topeka, Kansas

Dear Ben:

We submit to you the following figures in regard to changing the typesetting style of House and Senate Daily Journals. Our figures are based on 470 printed pages of the House Daily Journals during the 1965 Legislative Session.

The above 470 pages would increase to 498 pages, an increase of 28 pages. Increased paper cost is estimated at $20 to $25.

On the other hand, for the same 470 pages, composition costs should decrease nearly $1,000.

We are quite pleased to submit these figures to you and hope the council will approve our suggestion in returning to the same format as was used prior to World War II.

Sincerely yours,

Robert R. Sanders,
State Printer

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

Announcing passage of SB 10.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES

Your Committee on Printing wishes to report that a joint meeting of the House and Senate Committees on Printing has been held, and that an identical report to this one is being made today to the House.

research it was unanimously recent sessions of the legislature has been a growing needless waste of money spent on printing.

It is the desire of the federal government during this time of war to curtail the use of paper by at least twenty respectfully called to your attention the governor's message on January 10, 1941, in which he stated that "steps be taken to reduce the cost of government." It has been found that the cost of legislative printing has gradually increased to the sum of $20,296.83 in the 1929 session to the appalling sum of $43,536.42 in the 1941 session. A complete breakdown of the costs of the 1941 session of the legislature is as follows:

and resolutions.....	$15,447.77
calendars	13,598.59
work	6,339.19
calendars	3,411.90
enrolled bills	3,362.31
stock	1,376.66
	$43,546.42

The number of printed copies of the printed items has greatly increased needlessly during the last six sessions of the legislature as and resolutions from 540 in 1929 to 1,000 in 1941.

calendars from 1,150 in 1929 to 1,500 in 1941.

daily journals from 1,200 in 1929 to 1,600 in 1941.

permanent journals from 700 in 1929 to 1,000 in 1941.

enrolled bills from 40 in 1929 to 252 in 1941.

It is therefore recommended that the following suggestions be followed by the Senate to prevent waste, save expense, and cooperate with the war effort. As of today bills should be printed no more than:

252 copies each of the House and Senate daily calendars.

252 copies each of the House and Senate daily journals.

252 copies each of the House and Senate permanent journals.

252 copies each of the House and Senate individual bills, committee bills, or resolutions.

252 copies each of the House and Senate enrolled bills, two of which shall be on parchment and 250 on paper.

It is further recommended that the Secretary of the Senate be in charge of the printing, and, unless otherwise directed by the Senate, he state on each order for printing the number of copies to be made as in accordance with those suggested just above.

It is further recommended that, since a senator when submitting a bill or resolution will know in most cases whether there will be a large demand for extra copies, he can so state, and obtain the permission of your Committee on Printing for the additional copies. It is the purpose of this recommendation that no extra copies of any bill or resolution be reprinted without first the approval of the Senate upon motion on the floor. Your Committee on Printing will be happy to co-operate with any senator in moving that extra copies be printed if it feels justification, or the senator may make the motion himself.

It is further recommended that companion bills or resolutions to be submitted to both the House and the Senate be filed on the same day in both houses, and that the chief clerk of the House and the secretary of the Senate be so informed in order that they may make a notation on the order for printing for the information of the state printer, who will then be in a position to know not to tear down his type, but keep it set until the other companion bill or resolution arrives. In many instances in the past, type has had to be set twice because of the lapse of time in identical bills arriving at the state printing plant, which is one of the causes for increased expense. It is hoped that the observance of these two suggestions will prevent this situation, and the only additional expense incurred in printing companion bills or resolutions will be the changing of the headings. It is further recommended that your Committee on Supervision of the Journal study the possibility of the reduction of the volume of printed words in the daily journal and daily calendar.

Owing to the shortage of labor and the increased cost of production in overtime labor it will probably be necessary in the case of lengthy bills to carry them over until the second day before they will appear upon the desks of the senators.

While it is realized that each senator must have adequate supplies in order to conduct successfully the affairs of the Senate, it is the thought of your committee that further economy can be effected by not requisitioning any more stationery, blank stock, and other supplies than is absolutely necessary, for after all, while these recommendations may be approved by the Senate, it is still necessary in order to accomplish our intentions to have the complete accord and co-operation of each and every member of the legislature.

It is sincerely believed by your committee that a great deal of money can be saved and compliance can be made with the federal order for curtailment of the waste of paper during the war emergency by the observance of the recommendations contained herein by the members of the 1943 legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

SELLECK B. WARREN, Chairman.

On motion of Senator Warren, the report was adopted.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Supervision of the Journal beg leave to submit the following report and recommendation:

Adoption is recommended, as a matter of simplification and economy, of a modified Journal of the Senate. Under this plan instead of recording in full reports of standing committees, messages from the Senate, messages from the governor, reports on engrossed and enrolled bills, committee of the whole, and third reading, the same will be condensed in brief form but containing all essential facts. The proposed modifications will result in a saving of approximately one-half of the amount of printing heretofore contained in the journals without the omissions of any essential data.

It is further recommended that the secretary of the Senate be directed to incorporate the simplified form in the permanent journal for the 1943 session, said simplification to be carried out as illustrated in the form hereto attached.*

F. H. CRON, Chairman.

On motion of Senator Cron, the report was adopted.
