REPORT OF THE CIVIL CODE COMMITTEE OF THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL
ON A STUDY OF THE PROVISIONS OF CHAPTER 61 OF THE KANSAS STATUTES
IN LIGHT OF COURT UNIFICATION
(As amended and approved by Judicial Council, 2/3/89)

In May of 1988, the Legislative Coordinating Council requested the Judicial Council study the provisions of chapter 61 of the Kansas Statutes Annotated in light of court unification. In December of 1987, the Legislative Coordinating Council had received a letter from the legislative chairman of the Kansas Bar Association requesting approval of such a study. The letter from the Bar Association was accompanied by a list of proposed issues for the study of chapter 61. (Copies of the letters from the Coordinating Council and the Bar Association are attached to this report.)

Pursuant to assignment of the Judicial Council, the Civil Code Advisory Committee undertook the requested study of chapter 61 commencing in June of 1988. Throughout its study the committee was privileged to have the services and consultation of Judge Thomas Regan and Walter Scott, both of Topeka, who served as special members of the Civil Code Committee for the purposes of this project. In addition, Ronald D. Garrison of Kansas City, Kansas, provided invaluable assistance to the committee in the course of its study.

Consolidation With Chapter 60

Consideration was given as to whether chapter 61 and chapter 60 should be combined for use in all cases. This idea was rejected on the basis that chapter 61 is designed basically as a fast, simple and easy system to use in debt-collection and other relatively, small-dollar cases. If chapter 61 was consolidated with chapter 60, it would be necessary to make distinctions in such a consolidated chapter to retain the advantages of a streamlined procedure for certain types of cases. The committee saw no advantage in such a consolidated chapter with internal distinctions over a separate chapter for limited actions.

Expanded Scope for Chapter 61

The Civil Code Committee recommends the amendment of K.S.A. 61-1603 to expand the scope of actions which may be brought under chapter 61. (All proposed amendments are attached to this report.) The recommended amendments would (1) allow actions for the collection of an unsecured debt to be brought under chapter 61 without regard to dollar amount involved and (2) raise the dollar limitation for other permitted civil actions from $5000 to $10,000. The committee does not recommend any change in subsection (b) of 61-1603 which prohibits the use of chapter 61 for the types of civil actions enumerated therein.

It is the opinion of the committee that the dollar amount involved in the collection of an unsecured debt does not alter the basic nature, complexity or procedural requirements for such actions. As to the raising of the jurisdictional amount to $10,000 in other permitted civil actions, the committee believes there are a number of cases within this dollar range which would be amenable to the streamlined procedures of chapter 61.

In light of the recommendation to increase the scope of chapter 61, the committee recommends amendment of K.S.A. 20-302b to make the jurisdiction of district magistrate judges coextensive with the scope of actions authorized under chapter 61.

The committee recommends the amendment of K.S.A. 61-2501 to require a $55 docket fee in chapter 61 cases where the amount in controversy exceeds $5000. This would be the same docket fee as would be required if the case was filed under chapter 60 and would avoid any fiscal impact to the state from raising the dollar amount in cases which can be brought under chapter 61. (A conforming amendment to K.S.A. 20-362, relating to remittance of docket fees, would also be needed.) The committee does not view a higher docket fee for cases exceeding $5000 as presenting any hardship or disincentive to the use of chapter 61 in such cases.

Pretrial Conference

The committee recommends amending K.S.A. 61-1714 to state "Before setting a case for trial, the court may conduct a conference to clarify the issues for trial and explore possibilities for settlement." Pretrial conferences are provided for in chapter 60 cases by K.S.A. 60-216 and Supreme Court Rule 140. These provisions are more formal and elaborate than is necessary for chapter 61 proceedings. The conference recommended by the committee is intended to be a quick and efficient method to discover, formulate and narrow the issues prior to trial.

Transfer to Chapter 60; Consolidation of Actions

In light of the recommendation for an expanded jurisdictional amount in chapter 61, the committee considered whether a party should have some ability as a matter of right to transfer a case filed under chapter 61 for disposition under chapter 60 where greater discovery can be obtained. The committee rejected any transfer to chapter 60 as a matter of right on the basis that the chapter 61 procedure is designed to be fast, simple and easy and transfer to chapter 60 would necessarily impose greater delay in the proceedings.

Rather than a transfer to chapter 60 as a matter of right, the committee recommends the adoption of a new section (possibly designated as K.S.A. 61-1717a) under which a case could be transferred to chapter 60 upon order of the court for good cause shown. If a case is transferred, the moving party would be required to pay the additional docket fee required under chapter 60.

Presently, a chapter 61 action can be moved to chapter 60 under either K.S.A. 61-1717 or 61-1720. If a defendant in a chapter 61 action asserts a counterclaim or cross-claim beyond the scope of chapter 61, the case is reassigned for hearing pursuant to chapter 60 and the increased docket fee is assessed to the defendant. [K.S.A. 61-1720(b)] The committee recommends no change in this provision. Under 61-1717, if one of the parties to a chapter 61 action commences an action under chapter 60 involving a question of law or fact in common with the chapter 61 action, the judge in the chapter 60 action may direct that the 61 action be transferred and consolidated with the 60 action for further proceedings under chapter 60. This is true regardless of whether or not the action filed under chapter 60 is within the scope of actions authorized under chapter 61. The committee recommends the amendment of this section to provide that the chapter 60 judge, on the court's own motion or upon application of a party, may direct that the actions be consolidated and if the consolidated action falls within the jurisdiction of chapter 61, the judge shall direct whether the provisions of chapter 60 or 61 shall apply.

A somewhat related issue considered by the committee is whether or not a party should have some ability to secure the transfer of a chapter 61 case from a district magistrate to a district judge. For example, such a transfer might be desirable where a jury trial has been requested. The committee recommends that a new subsection (d) be added to K.S.A. 20-302b to the effect "Upon motion of a party, the administrative judge may reassign an action from a district magistrate judge to a district judge." The administrative judge undoubtedly has such authority under Supreme Court Rule 107. However, the addition of such a provision would indicate to parties that there is the possibility, and a procedure, for requesting such a transfer.

Appeals

In chapter 61 cases presently, the notice of appeal must be filed within 10 days after the entry of judgment, except that a defendant in a forcible detainer action who appeals a judgment granting restitution of the premises must file the notice of appeal within 5 days. [61-2102(a)] An appeal from a district magistrate judge is taken to a district judge and an appeal from a district judge is taken to the Court of Appeals. [61-2102(c)] Under chapter 60, an appeal from a district court to an appellate court must be taken within 30 days. [60-2103(a)] An appeal from a district magistrate judge must be taken within 10 days. [60-2103a(a)] It is the consensus of the committee that appeal times should be as consistent as possible. The committee recommends that in both chapters 60 and 61, appeals from district magistrates be filed within 10 days and appeals from the district court to the appellate courts be filed within 30 days. The committee would retain the 5-day appeal time in forcible detainer cases where restitution of the premises has been granted due to the nature of such cases.

The committee considered whether the time for filing the notice of appeal should be suspended pending a ruling on one of the motions enumerated under K.S.A. 60-2103(a) (motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, motion to amend or make additional findings of fact, motion to alter or amend the judgment, motion for new trial). Although chapter 61 is silent on this issue, the Supreme Court has ruled that, in an appeal to an appellate court under chapter 61, the running of the time for filing a notice of appeal is suspended by the filing of a timely motion for a new trial. Nolan v. Auto Transporters, 226 Kan. 176 (1979). The committee recommends that chapter 61 be amended to be consistent with K.S.A. 60-2103(a).

Counterclaims

K.S.A. 61-1709 addresses counterclaims and cross-claims in chapter 61 actions. The last sentence of the section makes reference to subsections (a) and (j) of K.S.A. 60-213. Since the adoption of 61-1709, a new subsection (g) has been added to 60-213. Consequently, the last sentence of 61-1709 should be amended to make reference to subsections (a) and (k) of 60-213. Counterclaims are compulsory under chapter 61 in accordance with the first sentence of 61-1709 to the effect, "Upon timely application of the plaintiff and in the discretion of the court, a defendant may be required to plead any counterclaim which such party has against the plaintiff, if it arises out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the plaintiff's claim . . . ." However, the comparative negligence statute is applicable to actions pursuant to chapter 61. [K.S.A. 60-258a(e)] Accordingly, the committee recommends amendment of 61-1709 to reflect the compulsory nature of counterclaims where the plaintiff's claim is governed by 60-258a.

Unlike 61-1709 which makes the filing of some counterclaims discretionary, counterclaims which arise out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the plaintiff's claim in a small claims action are deemed compulsory. (K.S.A. 61-2705) In Banister v. Carnes, 9 Kan.App.2d 133 (1983), a patient's malpractice action was held to be barred when it was not pleaded as a counterclaim to the small claims action brought by the dentist for the recovery of his fee. To relieve that harsh result, the committee recommends that K.S.A. 61-2705 be amended to provide that in small claims actions such counterclaims are mandatory only where they do not exceed the jurisdictional amount ($1,000) in small claims cases. The forms contained in 61-2713 should be amended to be consistent with this recommendation.

Other Issues

The committee considered the list of issues for the chapter 61 study as itemized by the KBA committee and which was forwarded by the Legislative Coordinating Council in its request. Each of the issues was discussed and considered by the committee and is either incorporated in the amendments as recommended by the committee or is rejected by the committee. For instance the committee, although it expanded the jurisdictional amount in chapter 61 cases, determined that discovery should not be extended as a matter of right to the scope and amount of discovery which is permitted under chapter 60 cases.

The committee also rejected the idea of the right of a party to convert any chapter 61 case to a chapter 60 case by merely paying the additional filing fee and further rejected the concept that no jury trials be had in chapter 61 cases.

The committee further considered that judgments in chapter 61 cases should become liens on real estate only by following the procedure for filing the judgment under chapter 60 and paying the filing fee. The committee rejected the concept that judgments in chapter 61 cases should become liens upon the automobile of the judgment debtor.

The committee considered, but did not change, the methods of service as are provided in chapter 61 cases. The committee, however, is continuing its study of service of process generally arising from its study of 1988 S.B. 608 and Substitute for S.B. 608. (The Civil Code Committee is considering the subject of service of process generally in considering some methods whereby the sheriffs' offices of Kansas might be relieved of the burdens of serving process.)

Dear Justice Miller:

At the last meeting of the Legislative Coordinating Council a letter was presented from Thomas E. Wright, Legislative Chairman of the Kansas Bar Association, asking that a request be made to the Judicial Council for a study of the provisions of Chapter 61 of the Kansas statutes in light of the 1977 court unification. The Legislative Coordinating Council approved the making of such request and asked that I inform you of their action.

I am attaching a copy of the letter from Mr. Wright setting forth the issues that he recommended which was the basis of the action of the LCC.

If I can be of further assistance, please let me know.

Very truly yours,

Dear Bob,

Walt Scott, Johnson County District Judge Phil Woodworth, Elwaine Pomeroy, Bob Alderson and Shawnee County District Judge Tom Regan are part of a KBA group working on a project designed to rethink and make major amendments to some Chapter 61 provisions in light of 1977 court unification and some ideas to make Chapter 61 practice less expensive for all those involved, including lower costs of litigation for Kansans using Chapter 61.

It is not anticipated that such legislation would be ready for introduction to the 1988 session. In recent discussions with Senator Bob Frey, rather than a 1988 interim committee, he suggested the approach of having the Legislative Coordinating Council request a study by the Judicial Council on this topic, that such study begin as soon as possible, and a report back to the L.C.C. be requested prior to the 1989 session. A list of proposed issues for the study are attached. On behalf of KBA, we would urge that request be made of the Judicial Council. Thank you.

Issues for Chapter 61 study

The focus of the study is that Chapter 61 should be a fast, simple, and easy system to use to basically collect debts. If discovery or jury trials are needed and the jurisdictional amount is $5000 or less, then the system ought to kick the claim up to Chapter 60 and allow those rules of civil procedure to govern subsequent conduct, discovery and trial.

1. Whether a district judge, when hearing Chapter 61 matters for the first time, should sit as a magistrate judge.
2. A court reporter should not be required nor should findings of fact or conclusions of law. We may want to consider the old system of "bench notes" being the judgment, since either party may appeal denovo.
3. If there is an appeal of the Chapter 61 trial, it is denovo, but done pursuant to Chapter 60.
4. Discovery in Chapter 61 is eliminated or severely curtailed (by order or the court only).
5. A short pretrial is allowed in contested Chapter 61 matters to determine and narrow issues.
6. A general denial is retained, but it must be fully explained at pretrial.
7. Either party should have the right to convert the proceeding to a Chapter 60 merely by filing the $55 filing fee.
8. No jury trial of Chapter 61. To get jury, must either appeal, or remove to Chapter 60.
9. Filing fees in '61 are kept modest.
10. The economy of time and expense should be maintained to facilitate commercial collections on pre-existing debts, and the J.C. should discuss feasibility of collection matters on bad checks as whether that creates pre-existing debt.
11. Judgments in '61 should be real estate liens if they pay the additional $15 after judgment and the lien is filed in Chapter 60. Becomes lien on autos, too.
12. Methods of service should be limited.
13. Dollar jurisdictional amount should be limited, unless by agreement, parties exceed the jurisdictional amount.
14. Jurisdictional subject matter should be limited. (No real estate, domestic relations, etc.)

15. Third party practice is prohibited.
16. Affirmative defenses and counterclaims should be focused at pretrial in '61 case, otherwise kicked up to '60.
17. No mandatory counterclaim requirements in '61.
18. Possibly judgments should be entered by judgment form or docket entry rather than journal entry. Consideration of computerized docket streamlining for attorney modem tie-in for filing and case status or review.
19. Possibly there should be a trial de novo appeal within the district court system with a provision for the allowance of attorney fees in the event of an appeal, similar to that under small claims procedure. Alternative would simply be to remove attorney fee sanction, and impose current court sanctions under KSA 60-211 if a litigant is using '61 procedures to stall and ultimately get into '60.
20. Appeals of '61 judgments go to the appellate system, the time factors should mirror those in Chapter 60.
21. Consolidate pretrials for attorneys with multiple cases, and incorporate use of telephone pretrial conferences in '61 cases.
22. review and possibly consolidate local rules concerning whether out-of-judicial-district attorneys must physically attend first docket calls.

In 1989, the Kansas Supreme Court ruled that the ten year limitation of KSA 60-513B applies to claims based on latent disease. The problem with this ruling is that some latent diseases, such as asbestosis, do not show up for a period of 25 to 30 years after exposure. The worker who suffers from this disease has no recourse under present law even though they could not possibly know they had been afflicted prior to the ten year time limit.

HB 2689 - LIMITATION OF ACTIONS FOR LATENT DISEASE

The Kansas Trial Lawyers Association has nearly 1000 members in all parts of the state and its members represent injured persons who claim that others are responsible for their damages. Of great concern to injured persons is whether they can present their claims in court to seek compensation for their damages against those who have wrongfully injured them. Limitations of actions (statutes of limitation) arbitrarily restrict access to the courts based solely on a consideration of time. The underlying public policy for such limitations is that persons should not sit on their rights and present stale claims and that after a certain point in time, even just claims should expire. The question with victims of latent diseases is when their injuries are discovered and the statute of limitations should commence.

A brief history of K.S.A. 60-513 is necessary to put this issue in perspective. In 1963 this statute of limitation limited the discovery period in tort actions to 10 years. The Supreme Court of Kansas in the case of Ruthraff, Administrator v. Kensinger, 214 Kan. 185, 519 P.2d 661 in 1974 interpreted the language to mean that the period of limitation did not begin to run until the date on which substantial injuries resulted and the 10-year provision referred only to injuries which were not reasonably ascertainable until some time after the initial act. In the case of traumatic torts, such as when a machine amputates a person's limb, the two-year statute of limitation did not start to run until the time of the amputation, even if it was 15 or 20 years after the manufacture of the product.

Two significant things have occurred within the last two years which impact this issue. First in 1987, language overcoming the effect of the Ruthraff decision was adopted pursuant to HB 2386 (1987). More significantly in the context of an asbestos-related claim the Supreme Court of Kansas considered the case of Tomlinson v. Celotex Corp., 224 Kan. 474, 770 P.2d 825 delivering its opinion on March 3, 1989. The Court ruled that the 10-year limitation applies to claims based on latent diseases and that such statute was constitutional, thus barring any recovery from an exposure to a disease where the exposure had taken place more than 10

2. The Products Liability Act and "useful safe life".

The Kansas Legislature from 1978 until 1981 debated the application of the statute of limitations as it applied to products and adopted K.S.A. 60-3303 dealing with the "useful safe life" of a product and a presumption that after ten years a product had exceeded its useful safe life, but that the presumption could be overcome by clear and convincing evidence. There are also evidentiary criteria by which useful safe life issues could be resolved. That statute was in no way to impinge upon the operation of K.S.A. 60-513(b), which at that point was being interpreted under the Ruthraff decision.

3. The Tomlinson case.

Two significant things occurred within the last two years. First in 1987, language overcoming the effect of the Ruthraff decision was adopted pursuant to HB 2386 (1987). More significantly in the context of an asbestos-related claim the Supreme Court of Kansas considered the case of Tomlinson v. Celotex Corp., 224 Kan. 474, 770 P.2d 825 delivering its opinion on March 3, 1989. The Court ruled that the 10-year limitation applies to claims based on latent diseases and that such statute was constitutional, thus barring any recovery from an exposure to a disease where the exposure had taken place more than 10 years before.

The Court concluded that the 10-year limitation period commenced at the latest upon the last exposure of the plaintiff to the asbestos. The Court recognized that many asbestos-related injuries will not manifest themselves until more than 10 years after the last exposure to the produce. They were also cognizant of the harsh effect this application had in the instant case, but felt constrained to find that the statute barred the claim.

The result of the interpretation in Tomlinson is that Kansas arguably stands alone in barring latent disease cases. Other states do not have a similar period of repose or, if they do, exempt latent disease. Other courts have read latent disease out of the ambit of their statute of limitations, such as in North Carolina.

4. The 1987 amendment.

The 1987 amendment was proposed and hardly debated (HB 2386, 1987) when it was brought on by some representatives of the building industry. The only thing appearing in the legislative history is a letter from Mr. Crockett, an attorney in Wichita, declaring the unfairness of contractors being responsible for buildings for more than 10 years. He cited as an example a case he personally handled (no recovery by the plaintiff) and a hypothecated case of liability for a building that was on the National Historic Register. The claim was made that the Ruthraff decision was terribly unfair. However, these were the only examples of "horrible imaginables" that were presented, even though there had been 14 years of experience with the Ruthraff decision. If contractors or improvers of real estate are to be specially treated, then perhaps something along the concept of the useful safe life of their product could be engrafted from the Products Liability Act.

WHY THE LEGISLATURE SHOULD ADOPT THIS BILL:

1. Asbestos as an example of why we need this legislation.

The problem of asbestos victims and the wrongdoing of the industry make an excellent example of the basic unfairness of an arbitrary 10-year limit. There are people who are going to die of cancer from a product that was manufactured and distributed after the manufacturer well knew (but the public did not know) of its potential for harm. Motivated by profit, the industry went on releasing and selling this product, knowing that people would be injured and die from exposure to the product, but nevertheless did not warn these people. However, the nature of a disease-process related to the inhaling of the fibers is such that the disease does not show up within a 10-year period in the ordinary case. The period of latency is much longer and only because the people have not discovered their fatal disease is the wrongdoer released from the consequences of his act.

Asbestos fibers, though, are just one example of environmental hazards which are arbitrarily eliminated by an inflexible application of a 10-year statute of limitations. The use of toxic materials and their relationship to disease emerges with more scientific information each year. It is only then that the questions are asked as to what knowledge the industry might have had and whether or not they were negligent in releasing their products and the degree of willfulness or recklessness that might have been involved in the distribution of the product. Thus, the Kansas law bars a claim before victims could even be aware they had a claim.

HB 2689 tries to comprehend not just asbestos (to protect its constitutionality from being special legislation or being an arbitrary classification), but extends to the class of latent diseases and to make use of science and epidemiology. This preserves the basic purpose of a statute of limitations to discourage people from sitting on their rights when they knew or should have known they should be in court. The bill tries to strike a balance, so that just claims can be filed when they are ripe (and not before) and likewise that after a person has a fair opportunity to file the suit, the statute would then expire.

A more extreme measure would simply be to delete the whole reference to the 10-year statute. However, we believe the legislature still wants to deal with the problem of stale claims and thus the bill takes into account the complexity of the scientific issues and fairness to prospective defendant.

The requirements are as follows:

(a) Requires a scientific determination of the fact of the injury -- in the case of asbestos, that would be the determination that a person had a disease such as mesothelioma;

(b) "Identify the fact ... of relationship" -- in the case of asbestos, the hallmark is the finding that asbestos fibers are in fact in the lung. In some cases this requires electronmicroscopy after the tissue has been removed from the person's body. Since there are other causes of lung cancer, you would not want people filing lung cancer suits based on a diagnosis of the disease alone without being able to relate it to the defendant's product.

(c) Relation to adverse party's conduct -- some products and their relationship to disease simply have not been established by science. It is not fair having injured people suing defendants at a time before the scientific evidence is accumulated that establishes a relationship between a product and a disease. It is also unfair to plaintiffs who are ignorant of the relationship. Because of the arbitrary statute of limitations, though, a suit must be filed or be lost by time if the legislature does not accommodate the process of scientific inquiry.

2. The Products Liability Act should not be dead-letter-law.

The Products Liability Act balanced the equities between injured persons and manufacturers of products in such a way that a presumptive safe life was established with specified types of information described to overcome the presumption. With the 1987 Amendment this language lost all of its meaning and victims of product-related injures (including latent diseases) lost their rights that have been preserved in the Products Liability Act. That Act now has no force or effect on "repose."

CONCLUSION:

The combination of the 1987 Amendment which gutted the Products Liability Act's concepts of "useful safe life" and the Supreme Court's harsh interpretation of our statute of limitations as to latent diseases, commands the attention of the legislature to revise the period within which to discover wrongful conduct and seek a remedy for injuries caused by that conduct. The awful tale of asbestos and the disadvantages experienced by Kansans demands an immediate remedy for those Kansans who have been exposed to asbestos and who will die from its consequences without a lawful remedy solely because they are residents of Kansas and exposed in Kansas.

Testimony of Kansas Trial Lawyers Association

The legislature in 1963, when it considered this Act, could not have foreseen what the science of 1990 would tell us about latent diseases. The 10-year period which may have appeared reasonable then, clearly is unreasonable now. Our courts have their hands tied in trying to give relief to victims because of the strict construction of K.S.A. 60-513(b). The wording of the legislature works inequities never intended by the legislature. The 1987 Amendment does further harm to those asbestos victims and other victims of latent diseases, as well as gutting the Products Liability Act. This legislation did not stand exposed to all the policy arguments which are advanced today and the decision needs to be reconsidered in the light of this new information.

The work that went into the Products Liability Act should not be overcome by what appeared to be an uncontroversial bill a few years ago. It's time for the legislature to re-visit the issue. HB 2689 strikes a fair balance between victims and wrongdoers and preserves basic policies underpinning limitations on personal injury actions.

On behalf of the Kansas Trial Lawyers Association, I respectfully encourage you to act favorably on this bill.

AMENDMENT TO HB 2689

Strike all of lines 31 through 34 and add a new subsection to read as follows:

(e) Upon the effective date of this act through July 1, 1991, any person whose claim for latent disease accrued on or after March 3, 1987 or had filed a claim prior to March 3, 1989, in any court alleging an action for a latent disease, the provisions of this bill shall revive such cause of action. The intent of this section is to revive causes of action for latent diseases barred by interpretation of the statute in effect prior to this enactment.

Re: HB 2689

Dear Mike:

I have reviewed the Senate version of the Bill. I have talked with Richard and he indicated you still had concern about Home Builders. The Senate version, though, needs to be fine-tuned some more if it's going to carry out the mutual intent of all the parties. I understand the mutual intent to include three things:

1. To exempt latent diseases from the 10-year repose.
2. To restore other product liability cases to limitations controlled by 60-3303 rather than the flat 10 years.
3. To revise latent disease cases barred by the Celotex decision.

This Bill probably accomplishes the first and third but does not accomplish the second.

I would suggest that paragraph C then of 3303 be revised to read as follows:

The provisions of this statute supersede the application of K.S.A. 60-513, and amendments thereto.

Subsection c when it was initially enacted was intended to apply 60-513 as interpreted by the supreme court in the Ruthraff decision. The 1987 amendment therefore turned that section on its head. Even KQCI suggested language for 60-513 which would have permitted the useful safe life issue to control the limitations. Product manufacturers were unintended beneficiaries of the 1987 amendment.

FAX (913) 233-3703

3a - 2/10

My only other suggestion would be in paragraph D to change the word "manufacturer" to "seller" and then strike the words "produced by such manufacturer." Seller is the broader concept. I still don't think it includes Home Builders as the definition specifically include manufacturers, wholesalers, distributors and retailers.

The Products Liability Act has provisions then to exempt the various sellers if you can reach people on up the line. If you want to be more neutral about it you could just delete the words "in a product liability claim against the manufacturer," capitalize the "t" on "the" and then delete the words "produced by such manufacturer."

I really don't think there is any problem for Home Builders by leaving the Bill in the form that it came out of the Senate Judiciary Committee amending 60-513. I do believe amending 60-513 is the better approach since that is where people look for limitations. It is possible that lawyers will misadvise clients about liability claims by a straight reference to 60-513 and the interpretations of that statute. Thus, your professional liability insurers should have some real concerns as the toughest cases to defend in a legal malpractice case is a missed statute of limitations. I can certainly envision the lawyer reading 60-513 and telling someone that they have lost their cause of action because they failed to look at 60-3303, the unusual place to find a limitation. That error then becomes a legal malpractice claim affecting Kansas legal malpractice rates rather than a culpable foreign manufacturer's rates.

I would urge you to reconsider your decision about which statute to amend but if you are married to this idea of amending 3303, please do carry out the intent by amending subparagraph C.

Yours truly,

JERRY R. PALMER

Rep. Mike O'Neal

Dear Mike:

There are plenty of major, controversial issues on the agenda for the veto session. If at all possible, I'd much prefer that HB 2689 not be on the "controversial" list. To that end, I am writing to re-state KTLA's position in the hopes an "agreed to" bill can be developed as quickly as possible.

As you will recall from Jerry Palmer's letter to you dated April 2, we understand the mutual intent of HB 2689 to be:

1. To exempt latent diseases from the 10 year statute repose.
2. To restore other product liability cases to limitations controlled by 60-3303, rather than the flat 10 years.
3. To revive latent disease cases barred by the Celotex decision.

In its present form, HB 2689 does not adequately address the second goal. We suggest lines 9 and 10 of page 4 be amended to read as follows: "The provisions of this statute supersede the application of K.S.A. 60-513, and amendments thereto."

You will note the other suggested changes we have made on page 4 of the attached balloon. These are being recommended because the term "seller", as defined in the product liability act is a much broader concept than "manufacturer". At the same time, we do not believe it is so broad as to include home builders.

Obviously, our balloon contemplates a modification in the Senate version of the bill. As you know, we still believe the version passed by the Senate Judiciary Committee is a more preferable vehicle.

First, we simply do not feel the Senate Committee language creates problems for the home builders.

Second, K.S.A. 60-513 is considered by most practitioners to be the primary statute of limitations law. With the change in latent disease cases being proposed in this bill, it is paramount that it be clearly understood and implemented promptly. We think addressing the issue in "513" would facilitate that process.

Additionally, Jerry has made our arguments that using the K.S.A. 60-513 statute very well may preclude some avoidable legal malpractice cases in the future.

Mike, if there's further information we can provide, please let me know. Otherwise, see you April 25.

19 Section 1. K.S.A. 1989 Supp. 60-513 is hereby amended to 20 read as follows: 60-513. (a) The following actions shall be 21 brought within two years:

22 (1) An action for trespass upon real property.

23 (2) An action for taking, detaining or injuring personal prop-
24 erty, including actions for the specific recovery thereof.

25 (3) An action for relief on the ground of fraud, but the cause
26 of action shall not be deemed to have accrued until the fraud
27 is discovered.

28 (4) An action for injury to the rights of another, not arising
29 on contract, and not herein enumerated.

30 (5) An action for wrongful death.

31 (6) An action to recover for an ionizing radiation injury as 32 provided in K.S.A. 60-513a, 60-513b and 60-513c, and amend-

34 (7) An action arising out of the rendering of or failure to

37 (b) Except as provided in subsection (c), the causes of action
38 listed in subsection (a) shall not be deemed to have accrued
39 until the act giving rise to the cause of action first causes
40 substantial injury, or, if the fact of injury is not reasonably 41 ascertainable until some time after the initial act, then the 42 period of limitation shall not commence until the fact of injury
43 becomes reasonably ascertainable to the injured party, but in

3a-8/10

1 no event shall an action be commenced more than 10 years
 2 beyond the time of the act giving rise to the cause of action
 3 or requires a scientific determination to identify the fact of 4 the injury or its relationship to another person's wrongful
 5 conduct, then the period of limitation shall not commence until 6 the injured party know or should have known of the fact of 7 the injury and its relation to the adverse party's conduct. until 8 some time after the initial act, then the period of limitation shall 9 not commence until the fact of injury becomes reasonably ascer-
 10 tainable to the injured party, but in no event shall an action be 11 commenced more than 10 years beyond the time of the act giving
 12 rise to the cause of action. The 10-year limitation shall not apply 13 to:

14 (1) Alter the time to bring a product liability claim, as defined
 15 by K.S.A. 60-3302, and amendments thereto, and as procedurally
 16 prescribed in K.S.A. 60-3303, and amendments thereto; or

17 (2) the time to discover a disease which is latent caused by 18 exposure to a harmful material, in which event the action shall be 19 deemed to have accrued when the disease and such disease's cause
 20 have been made known to the person or at the point the person
 21 should have been aware of the disease and such disease's cause.

22 (c) A cause of action arising out of the rendering of or the 23 failure to render professional services by a health care provider
 24 shall be deemed to have accrued at the time of the occurrence
 25 of the act giving rise to the cause of action; unless the fact of 26 injury is not reasonably ascertainable until some time after the 27 initial act, then the period of limitation shall not commence
 28 until the fact of injury becomes reasonably ascertainable to the 29 injured party, but in no event shall such an action be com-
 30 menced more than four years beyond the time of the act giving
 31 rise to the cause of action.

32 (d) The provisions of this section as it was constituted prior
 33 to July 1, 1987, shall continue in force and effect for a period
 34 of two years from that date with respect to any act giving rise
 35 to a cause of action occurring prior to that date.

36 [Section 1. K.S.A. 60-3303 is hereby amended to read as follows:
 37 60-3303. (a) (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) of subsection
 38 (a) of this section, a product seller shall not be subject to liability
 39 in a product liability claim if the product seller proves by a pre-40 ponderance of the evidence that the harm was caused after the 41 product's "useful safe life" had expired. "Useful safe life" begins at 42 the time of delivery of the product and extends for the time during 43 which the product would normally be likely to perform or be stored

1 in a safe manner. For the purposes of this section, "time of delivery"
2 means the time of delivery of a product to its first purchaser or 3 lessee who was not engaged in the business of either selling such 4 products or using them as component parts of another product to 5 be sold.

6 [Examples of evidence that is especially probative in determining
7 whether a product's useful safe life had expired include:

8 [(A) The amount of wear and tear to which the product had 9 been subject;

10 [(B) the effect of deterioration from natural causes, and from 11 climate and other conditions under which the product was used or 12 stored;

13 [(C) the normal practices of the user, similar users and the 14 product seller with respect to the circumstances, frequency and pur-
15 poses of the product's use, and with respect to repairs, renewals
16 and replacements;

17 [(D) any representations, instructions or warnings made by the 18 product seller concerning proper maintenance, storage and use of 19 the product or the expected useful safe life of the product; and

20 [(E) any modification or alteration of the product by a user or 21 third party.

22 [(2) A product seller may be subject to liability for harm caused 23 by a product used beyond its useful safe life to the extent that the 24 product seller has expressly warranted the product for a longer
25 period.

26 [(b) (1) In claims that involve harm caused more than 10 years
27 after time of delivery, a presumption arises that the harm was caused 28 after the useful safe life had expired. This presumption may only 29 be rebutted by clear and convincing evidence.

30 [(2) (A) If a product seller expressly warrants that its product
31 can be utilized safely for a period longer than 10 years, the period 32 of repose, after which the presumption created in paragraph (1) of 33 this subsection arises, shall be extended according to that warranty
34 or promise.

35 [(B) The ten-year period of repose established in paragraph (1)
36 of this subsection does not apply if the product seller intentionally 37 misrepresents facts about its product, or fraudulently conceals in-38 formation about it, and that conduct was a substantial cause of the 39 claimant's harm.

40 [(C) Nothing contained in this subsection shall affect the right
41 of any person liable under a product liability claim to seek and 42 obtain indemnity from any other person who is responsible for the 43 harm which gave rise to the product liability claim.

2 [(D) The ten-year period of repose established in paragraph (1)

5 aspect of the product that existed at the time of delivery was not
6 discoverable by a reasonably prudent person until more than 10
7 years after the time of delivery, or if the harm caused within 10
8 years after the time of delivery, did not manifest itself until after

SENATE JUDICIAL SUB-COMMITTEE ON

TESTIMONY IN SUPPORT OF

HOUSE BILL 2689

By

John W. Campbell

Deputy Attorney General

March 23, 1990

Mr. Chairman, Members of the Committee:

My name is John Campbell. I am a Deputy Attorney General for the State of Kansas. Attorney General Robert T. Stephan has asked me to testify in support of House Bill 2689.

HB 2689 would amend the Kansas statute of limitations. It would allow victims of latent diseases caused by an exposure to harmful materials a realistic opportunity to seek a court remedy against those whose negligence or wrongdoing caused their disease. Such an amendment is needed. It is especially needed for those persons who are exposed to hazardous, toxic or radioactive materials in the work place.

Workers are exposed to chemicals and minerals which can cause diseases. Exposure to some of these materials can result in immediate harm. The law provides remedies in such cases. However, other materials such as asbestos, do not result in immediate harm, but can cause diseases which manifest themselves 10, 15, even 25 years after exposure.

Under current Kansas law, if one was exposed to asbestos and developed asbestosis and/or a cancer 10 years and one day after his last exposure, our courts could not provide him with a remedy. This is true even though there was no way for this person to know that his exposure would result in disease. By the adoption of HB 2689, Kansas would join the states who have adopted the discovery rule on latent diseases caused by exposure to harmful materials. This rule states that one must seek judicial remedies for a disease caused by the negligence or wrongdoing of another, within two years of the time the victim knew or should have known that he had, in fact, developed a disease. Courts have upheld this discovery rule in Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, South Carolina, Texas, Colorado, California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio,

Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Connecticut, and New York.

A worker denied access to the courts faces financial ruin. He is totally dependent on his own resources and whatever public assistance he can obtain. HB 2689 would provide the opportunity to distribute the financial burdens associated with the devastating diseases caused by asbestos and other hazardous materials found in the work place.

The Attorney General requests the sub-committee adopt HB 2689 and correct this situation.

SUBJECT: House Bill 2689; Statute of Limitations - Latent Diseases

Thank you for this opportunity to offer neutral testimony on the subject of HB 2689. We wish to express our preference for the provisions of HB 2689 by contrast to SB 689. This is because the wording of SB 689 is not sufficiently precise to preclude an action brought against a health care provider for failure to diagnose a latent disease which, by its nature, is not possible to diagnose at the time of exposure.

If SB 689 receives a hearing in the House Judiciary Committee, we will express our opposition. We do not, however, have any objections to the provisions of HB 2689. Thank you for considering our concerns.

RE: HB 3054
DATE: March 23, 1990

Pro tem judges appointed pursuant to KSA 20-310a have the full authority and power of a district judge.

If a pro tem judge is appointed pursuant to subsection (d) or (e) of KSA 20-310, the pro tem judge is limited in jurisdiction to hear the original trial of actions filed pursuant to small claims procedure.

What this bill does is extend the authority of pro tem judges appointed pursuant to subsection (d) and (e) of KSA 20-310 to include actions within the jurisdiction of the district magistrate judge.

Appeals would be heard by a district judge de novo according to either the statutory small claims procedure or the statute controlling an appeal from a district magistrate judge, respectively.

There is no fiscal note to the state. It is still subject to the budget limitations of the district court. It would be helpful to all administrative law judges in handling their docket in periods of overload.

The supplementary note on HB 3054 may be somewhat misleading in that under present law, judges appointed under subsections (d) and (e) do presently handle small claims.

Testimony of Judge G. Joseph Pierron concerning HB 2019
delivered January 23, 1989

HB 2019 attempts to provide some protection for homeowners from abuses that sometime occur from what is commonly referred to as "equity skimming."

Kansas provides homeowners with numerous rights during mortgage foreclosure procedures. One of the most important of these rights is the redemption period homeowners have after a foreclosure is entered which allows them to remain in the residence and perhaps catch the payments up. Depending on how much of the mortgage has been paid, the redemption period can be as long as twelve months.

Homeowners may sell their rights of redemption. They are sometimes purchased by persons who specialize in such transactions who are commonly referred to as "equity skimmers" or "equiteers." The purchaser of the redemption rights usually rent the residence out during the redemption period or sometimes redeems the property.

There is nothing wrong with converting the redemption rights into cash. Unfortunately, the situation can lead to the homeowner being defrauded of rights. Too often the homeowner, who is facing the loss of the home and is probably in bad financial shape, can be cheated.

Unscrupulous equity skimmers - not all of them to be sure - may tell the homeowners that they will try to help get the payments caught up or wish to redeem the property themselves. Instead, the skimmers will rent the property out during the period of redemption, pocket the rents and let the residence go back to the mortgage holder. The skimmers, who are mainly interested in squeezing quick money out of the house, will not be careful to whom they rent it. The homeowner may then find he has a worthless promise from the skimmer, the redemption period gone and the house trashed by transient renters. To add insult to injury, due to the waste of the redemption period and the damage to the house, the homeowner may also have a deficiency judgment against him.

HB 2019 is not a panacea, but it does introduce a "truth in labeling" philosophy to purchases of homeowners' equity. The bill requires the homeowner be informed of the significance of the sale of home equity in writing in the form provided by the bill. It also requires the homeowner be informed that any promises concerning the transaction must be in writing and allows a right of rescission within five days after the signing of the agreement.

While not foolproof and certainly not a substitute for common sense, the act will probably help protect persons under stress from being deprived of what the legislature of this state has sought to safeguard - the equity in their homes.

In re: HB-2019 - Home Equity Protection

Dear Mr. Thompson:

Thank you very much for your quick response to my letter of March 28.

Concerning your inquiry as to how widespread the practice of equity skimming is, attorneys representing mortgage holding institutions in this area indicate it is quite widespread. Of course, the better educated and economically well off the home owner, the less likely he is to be victimized. Unfortunately, those who need their equity rights the most are oftentimes the ones who are fast talked out of them by equity skimmers who approach them with cash and quit claim deeds.

I am enclosing a copy of the testimony I gave in support of the bill this year which generally sets out Judge Anderson's and my concerns.

Although our main focus is on the wrongs done to homeowners, unscrupulous equiteers also gum up the foreclosure process with obstructionist tactics which increase the cost of foreclosure proceedings and benefit only the equiteer.

As I said in my testimony, all equiteers are not unscrupulous and those providing legitimate services and conducting their businesses fairly would not be penalized with a "truth in lending" type approach.

Some attorneys in this area who represent mortgage holders indicated they would be glad to give input on this subject if it would be helpful. They all have their own horror stories.

We would stress that the purpose of our legislative recommendation is to help protect the homeowner, as opposed to the mortgage holding institutions who have a much greater ability to take care of themselves.

Please feel free to contact us if we can be of further assistance. Judge Anderson and I believe that some form of home equity protection legislation is needed in Kansas and might prove to be a model, or at least a starting place, for other states wishing to protect their homeowners.

Sincerely,
