

Dear Senator,

3/7/18

My dyslexia - makes me mad and unhappy because...

- people can't see my dyslexia unlike you can see someone in a wheel chair.

- Dyslexics get made fun of because people laugh at our work.

Dyslexia is fixable:

- My outside tutoring has helped me in school.

- If the school had taught me in a way I learn, then I wouldn't have had to give up time after school for tutoring.

This law will make dyslexics feel better because:

- we would have learned early the way we needed to learn.

- we wouldn't feel shame because of our grade and hand writing.

it's not our fault sence the school never taught us now we need to be taught.

thank you
Jacobe Arnold
12 years old
6th grade
Lenexa, KS

P.S 4th grade you hit a brick wall in school because you read to learn and not learn to read.