

SESSION OF 2022

SUPPLEMENTAL NOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 2631

As Amended by House Committee of the Whole

Brief***

HB 2631, as amended, would create the Career Technical Education Credential and Transition Incentive for Employment Success Act, which would provide state aid to school districts for the reimbursement of assessment costs for students who earn certain credentials.

The bill would define “school district” to include a specific list of school districts that would be eligible for such state aid. The provisions of the bill would be limited to such school districts listed in the bill.

Subject to appropriations, the bill would provide reimbursement costs at 100 percent of the cost of assessments for an approved standard career technical education (CTE) credential, if such credential is earned by a student who has an individual education program (IEP) or a 504 plan at the time the credential is obtained, or if the student is identified as having obtained a standard credit as determined at the discretion of the school district.

Subject to appropriations, the bill would provide reimbursement costs at 120 percent of the cost of assessments for an approved high-value CTE credential.

The bill would require the State Board of Education (State Board) to determine the state aid to school districts by determining the number of students enrolled in the district who obtained such credentials in the immediately preceding school year and determining the cost of assessments for each such credential obtained, multiplying such amount by 1.2 for high-value CTE credentials. The bill would require the State Board to follow the usual process of certifying to the Director of Accounts and Reports the amount due to school districts, who would be required to draw a warrant on the State Treasury payable to the treasurer of the school district. The treasurer of the school district would then be required to credit the amount to the Career Technical Education Fund of the school district for purposes of the Fund, and the bill would require such funds to be used to cover the cost of the approved credential assessments.

The bill would require the State board, on or before July 31, 2022, and every July 31 thereafter, to approve a list of high-value industry-recognized credentials and a list of standard industry-recognized credentials. The State Board would be required to consult with the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Commerce, and representatives of industries that recognize career technical education credentials.

The bill would also amend the Student Online Personal Protection Act to exclude national assessment providers that administer college and career readiness assessments from the definition of “operator.” The bill would permit a national assessment provider to administer a college and career readiness assessment questionnaire or survey to any student enrolled in grades K-12 without prior written permission from such student’s parent or guardian.
